New York, New York.

Dear Vasulka's:

Sorry to have taken so long to reply, but we've had alot of other things crop up and since you said to take our time, we took you at your word. Please excuse the delay, though, as I'm sure it's been overly-long.

After discussing the proposition thoroughly with the company, we have decided that, unfortunately, our exercises and training, which you both saw, and which you seemed so interested in, is not available to be video-taped. I am sorry, but the company felt it was too personal a thing to be taped, and, of course, I must respect their wishes.

We do feel, however, that, if you are interested in taping a performance, we would, under certain conditions, be happy to go along. Such a tape would provide a valuable record for us, provided we had some control over when and how it was shown.

If the above is of interest to you, please let us know. We open our current piece April 1st, and will look forward to seeing you in our audience sometime after then. Thanks for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Anthony Abeson.
